The Paquita Restaurant Bar improves its facilities using renewable energies by operating a Biomass boiler for Heating and Sanitary Hot Water that is supplied by pellet and firewood.

The work, carried out by the company Implica-T Sustainable Development, has received a grant from the IVACE for a total of € 8,631.06, under the programme "Financial support from IVACE through the Renewable Energies and Biofuels Programme 2017, within the ERDF Operational Programme of the Valencia Region".

This new installation joins the one already available in our Solar Thermal Energy installations to support Domestic Hot Water (DHW).
